UNDECIDED?—Nancy Keller, 17-year-old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Karl Keller of Keokee Chapel, Cresco, isn't a tourist, but as our girl of the month for June she serves to make a point—that there are plenty of places to go and making up the mind is sometimes difficult. New Plants Attraction

Senate Okays Plan To Up State's Aid To Industry

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Senate Wednesday night voted to increase the state's share of the cost of attracting new industry to Pennsylvania.

Approved was a Lawrence Administration plan to permit the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority (PIDA) to finance up to 40 per cent of the cost of new plants and reduce the local share to 10 per cent.

At present the ratio is 30 per cent PIDA, and 20 per cent local. Private sources are tapped for the remaining 50 per cent.

Seasonal Work Increases But--

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government Wednesday reported an expected seasonal increase in jobs in May. But there was no evidence that economic recovery has yet created any big demand in employment offices.

Employment rose by 1,044,000 to 66,788,000, down more than 400,000 from a year earlier.

Unemployment declined by 194,000 to 4,768,000, a figure about 1.3 million higher than a year ago. Seymour Wolfbein, Labor Department manpower statistics chief, said that while there is evidence elsewhere that a sizable economic expansion is under way, "there has not been the job recovery we've been looking for."

Wolfbein said experience shows that job recovery always trails a production-sales pickup. A major reason for this is that employers generally assign more hours to workers who have been occupied only part time before hiring new workers.

The work force rose by 850,000 to 71,546,000 in May. The seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment to the total work force was 6.9 per cent, up a bit from the 6.8 rate in April.

Wolfbein attached no significance to this change except to note that the rate has stayed close to 7 per cent now for six straight months. Any marked decline in this figure would mean that job recovery has begun.

Next month unemployment is expected to jump by about 700,000 to around 5½ million. This is seasonally expected in June when students flood the labor market seeking summer jobs.

In another report the Labor Department said that a gradual employment pickup that started last March is expected to continue at least until mid-July.

GSA Awards Contracts

HARRISBURG (AP)—The General State Authority Wednesday awarded contracts for construction of the White Haven School for Mentally Retarded and Psychotic Children on a 290-acre site in Luzerne County.

The hospital will be located near Olney Valley Rd. northwest of White Haven. Low bidders were: General Construction, Boyd H. Kline of Bloomsburg, $4,102,326; heating and ventilating, The Welsbach Corp., Philadelphia, $1,256,947; plumbing, The Hughes Corp., Luzerne, $777,900, and electrical, W. A. Donmoyer Co., of Allentown, $581,780.

Clark introduced the enabling bill in the Senate on behalf of himself and the seven other senators from the states involved. A similar bill by Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., has received committee approval in the House. The legislatures of all the states involved, except Pennsylvania, have approved the compact.

Trujillo Assassinated

SAN JUAN, P. R. (AP)—Assassins have shot down and killed Rafael Leonidas Trujillo, the Dominican dictator.

The death of the 69-year-old strongman—dictator for 31 years and a storm center in inter-American relations—was announced late Wednesday in Ciudad Trujillo, his capital.

The communique gave no details except to say Trujillo fell victim to an atentado (assassination) during the night.

Other information reaching San Juan Wednesday night from responsible sources gave this version:

Seven persons in an automobile attacked Trujillo at 10 p.m. Tuesday as he was driving to Ciudad Trujillo from his home in San Cristobal.

Trujillo was shot.

Two of his attackers were caught or killed. The other five are presumed to have got away.

As an aftermath to the assassination police went at 4:30 a.m. to the home of Roman Catholic Bishop Thomas F. Reilly, who has been under house arrest growing out of a dispute between Trujillo and the church.

Bishop Reilly was taken away but later was returned to his home—with apologies.

The death of Trujillo was announced officially at 4:45 p.m. EST—roughly 19 hours after his death occurred. Presumably Trujillo's aides used this time to the down military control of the country.

Claims 'Bob' Sought Negro Bus Driver

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A bus company official testified Wednesday that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy urged him vigorously to get a Negro to drive a "Freedom Riders" bus when white drivers refused to move it.

When he replied that no Negro drivers were available, the witness said Kennedy told him, "Well, hell, you can look for one, can't you?"

The statement came in U.S. District Court after Birmingham police were cleared of blame for race rioting there, but a similar Justice Department complaint against Montgomery police was left pending.

Called as a defense witness, Greyhound Supt. George E. Cruitt of Birmingham said Kennedy telephoned him after regular drivers refused to take the bus from Birmingham to Montgomery. Several scheduled trips were canceled before a Greyhound driver finally made the run May 20.

Claim No Protection

A screaming white mob attacked the Freedom Riders when the bus got here, and the Justice Department contends police "deliberately failed" to provide protection.

With dismissal of the complaint against Birmingham police and one of three Ku Klux Klan factions, who had been put under a temporary no-violence injunction after the rioting here, U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. still is considering possible action against Montgomery police and two other Klan organizations.

The government seeks to compel police to protect Freedom Riders in the future, and to continue the injunction against the Klans.

Cruitt told the court that when he told Kennedy the regular drivers refused to take the bus out of Birmingham for fear of violence after rioting there, the attorney general asked him to get someone else, or drive it himself.

'K' To Seek Relaxation Of Tension

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared Wednesday night he will strive personally for a relaxation of world tensions when he meets here with President Kennedy.

This was reported by Prague radio in describing Khrushchev's arrival in Bratislava, Czech city only 30 miles from Vienna.

Khrushchev was greeted by large crowds. He told them: "I am on my way to Vienna to meet with President Kennedy. I do not want to make a prior judgment on the meeting but I will strive for a relaxation of world tensions, and to secure peace."

"Our delegation will intercede for not only what the people of the Socialist countries want, but what the people of the entire world want, namely peace."

Chairman Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., directed that copies of the transcript be sent to signers of an advertisement which appeared Wednesday in the Washington Post protesting against the hearing. He said the signers should know "with whom they are associating."

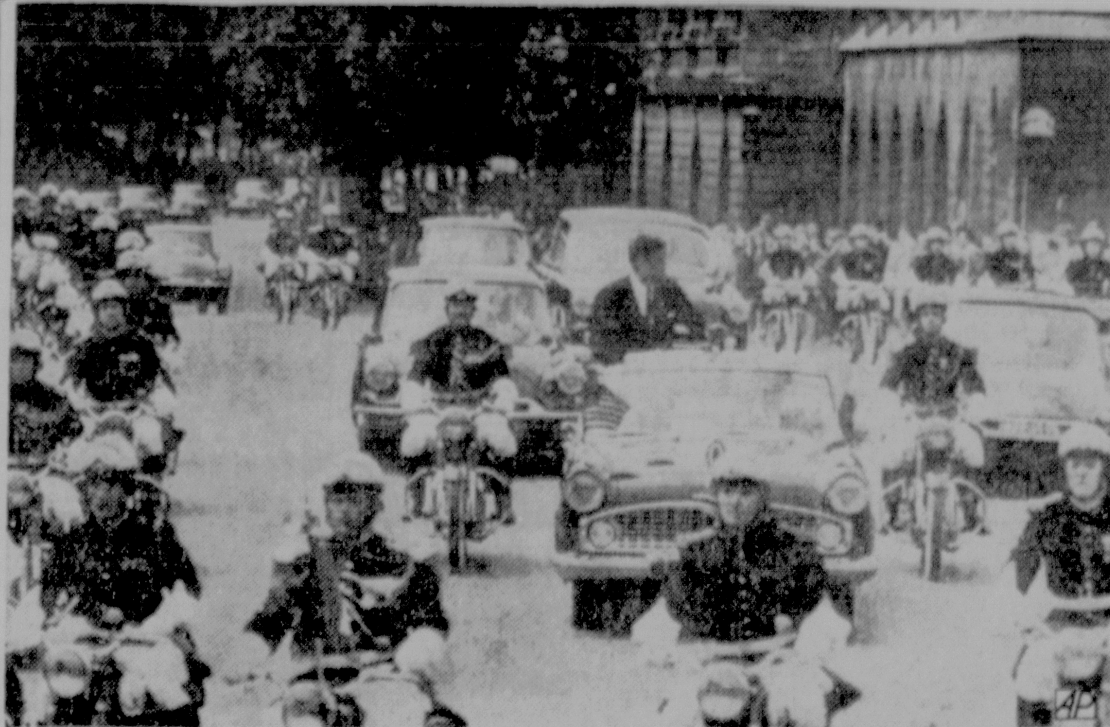

Unseasonable Weather Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau said Wednesday it expects temperatures during the next 30 days to average below seasonal normals over most of the eastern half of the nation with greatest departures over the Midwest.

Above normal temperatures are predicted for Texas and for areas west of the Continental Divide except for near to below normal over the far Southwest.

Ancient Urns Found

BERLIN (AP)—Bronze Age burial urns and splinters of early Stone Age vases, 3,000 to 4,300 years old, have been reported found by Schwerin Prehistoric Museum officials in the Malchin district of East Germany.

Okays Two $5 Per Capita Taxes

Stroud Union Board Ups Millage, Approves Budget

STROUD UNION School District School Board approved a $1,387,228.38 budget for the school year of 1961-62 at a special session last night.

At the same time it also voted to increase the millage from 25 to 30 mills on real estate and occupation millage from 25 to 30 mills. The board also approved two $5 per capita taxes. Work on the new roof of the old high school building was awarded to Mid-Valley Roofing Co. at a bid of $10,274. It was the only bid submitted.

The budget was divided into seven divisions with the money being allocated as follows: general control, $37,160; instruction, $825,442; auxiliary agencies, $95,880; school plant, $101,900; maintenance of school plant, $28,400; fixed charges, $99,599.52; debt service charge, $163,739.19; and capital outlay, $35,197.67.

The board was notified by the building authority that Monday, June 5, at 8 p.m. bids for new construction at the Morey and Hamilton Township Schools would be awarded.

The meeting will be held in the board room of Stroud Union School District in the high school on W. Main Street.

Rusk Requests Aid To Thwart Redism

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk testified Wednesday that America must spend $4,806,000,000 on foreign aid to meet Communist aggression.

"We can afford to do what has to be done," he said.

Those who oppose foreign aid, Rusk told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, "must accept the consequences of their opposition."

"They must understand," he continued, "that, if they succeed (in killing the program), they deny the peoples in the emergent societies their last great hope for independent development and therefore condemn them to the high probability of Communist servitude—and us to Communist world encirclement."

First Witness

Rusk was the first administration witness for President Kennedy's foreign aid bill. To testify, the secretary delayed a flight to Paris to join the President in his talks with President Charles de Gaulle of France.

Most committee members gave Rusk and the bill a friendly reception, but Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said, "I am going into this program sentence by sentence and item by item."

Morse said the United States can not continue to waste money as he said it has been doing in many parts of the world.

"A lot of things need to be done at home," the senator added.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., the chairman, said the committee would insist on qualified administrators to run aid programs in foreign lands. He said there were too many instances of corrupt or frustrated programs.

Rusk said efforts would be made to simplify administration and put responsibility in the hands of "known, identifiable people."

In his presentation of the administration's case for foreign aid, Rusk said the free world must arm itself to meet Communist aggression "from the 'thermonuclear holocaust to assassination in the jungle.'"

He said that if the United States does not do its share, it will see the failure of other nations to meet the needs of their people and the inevitable collapse of these nations.

Also standing up to the best of them in the opening rounds was the youngest regional champion of all—Steven Palmer, just 10 years old. He is a fifth-grader from Vernon, Tex.

The 56 spelled down tripped in many cases on tricky and unusual words. These included such formidable ones as immitigable, aleatory, antilogy, chymous, peregrinate and consanguineous.

The 1961 bee is sponsored by Scripps-Howard Newspapers in 18 cities and 34 other daily and Sunday newspapers.

Winner of the two-day bee will get $1,000, a ruby-set gold medal, a trophy cup and a sight-seeing trip to New York City. Other prizes range from $500 for the runner-up down to $50 each for the first 55 who are split down.

Spelling Bee Down To 17 Contestants

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seventeen youngsters—12 girls and five boys—waded through a barrage of tough words Wednesday to gain Thursday's finals in the 34th annual National Spelling Bee.

The 17, regional champions all, survived 11 rounds and 561 words which took a toll of 56 of the original 73 contestants.

The finals will determine the national champion and other winners of cash prizes totaling $5,850.

Boys, who have been bested by the girls in winning championships in years past, didn't improve their numerical ratio. There were almost half as many boys as girls—24 and 49—at the start Wednesday. And there were still less than half at the end of the preliminary rounds.

Advancing to the final rounds were two 13-year-old girls who came back this time for a second try. Gayle Fehr, an eighth-grader at LaSalette Academy, Covington, Ky., finished 69th last year. Karen Grimm, a student at Franklin Junior High in Reisterstown, Md., was 39th two years ago.

Steppe Down

Trujillo held the presidency until 1952, when he stepped down in favor of his brother Hector, but no one doubted who ran the government. Hector Trujillo was succeeded as president last year by Balaguer.

Trujillo, always dapper and self-assured, ruled his nation with an iron hand and often overtones of tyranny. Even his critics, however, granted that he brought stable government into a country that had seen frequent revolutions, improved the living conditions of many of the people and raised its literacy.

He was for many years considered one of the United States' strongest allies in its fight against communism.

But the self-proclaimed "benefactor of the fatherland" had in recent years, even while receiving U.S. aid, expressed distrust of the way Washington was treating him. He said he longed for the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

He said that if the United States does not do its share, it will see the failure of other nations to meet the needs of their people and the inevitable collapse of these nations.

Union Signs New Contract

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A labor contract, hailed by both management and unions as a new cooperative effort, was signed here Wednesday.

The pact was signed by the Pittsburgh Building Trades Council, representing a group of craft unions, and Catranel, Inc., developer of residential areas.

Forces Ready To Meet Any Threat

PARIS (AP)—President Kennedy asserted Wednesday night the United States will maintain forces in Europe "as long as they are required, ready to meet any threat with whatever response is needed."

The President made the statement in the prepared text of a banquet speech against a background of agreement with President Charles de Gaulle on an apparent granite-tough policy toward Soviet threats to provoke a new Berlin crisis.

The President, however, deleted these and other material statements relating to the firm policy from the speech he delivered at the banquet in the form of a toast to his host, President de Gaulle.

The prospect that U.S. troops will be withdrawn, a White House press secretary, offered this explanation: "There is no significance to the omission of any portion of the text of the President's original toast. The statements were meant to explain the President's position."

Press secretary Pierre Salinger told a reporter the President evidently considered the social atmosphere of the dinner at the Elysee Palace an inappropriate setting for a statement of policy. But he added the remarks stand as a statement of policy.

Kennedy meets Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Vienna over the weekend against the background of the statement. He thus posed the prospect that U.S. troops will resist any Communist attempt to envelop West Berlin, which is isolated 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

Kennedy and De Gaulle, a French spokesman said, reached complete identity of views at their first meeting Wednesday on Berlin. A U.S. spokesman added there was general agreement on the issue of the isolated city.

462 Deaths Recorded On U. S. Roads

Total 683

Motorists across the country established a new record for highway slaughter during the four-day Memorial Day holiday.

The final count of traffic deaths showed 462 killed, the worst toll for a Memorial holiday period in history.

The National Safety Council termed the number of fatalities "brutal" and said it called for "complete modernization of every element in the administration of highway traffic."

Only one other spring or summer holiday traffic death toll—491 during the four-day Fourth of July in 1950—topped the number of highway deaths reported between 6 p.m. (local time) Friday when the count began, and midnight Tuesday.

In addition to those killed in traffic, 40 died in boating accidents, 63 by drowning and 118 in miscellaneous accidents for an overall total of 683.

Only two states—Delaware and Rhode Island—and the District of Columbia came through the 102-hour holiday period without a single traffic fatality.

California Tops

California with 38 deaths stood out as the state with the worst record of traffic fatalities for the period. Michigan, with 31, and Illinois, with 20, were close behind.

This year's heavy highway toll compared with 367 killed during last year's three-day Memorial Day weekend. Other types of accidents last year pushed the overall total to 579 deaths.

The previous record number of traffic deaths for a four-day Memorial holiday was 413, set in 1957.

The Associated Press, for comparative purposes, made a nationwide survey of accidental deaths during the 102-hour non-holiday period from 6 p.m. Friday May 16, to midnight Tuesday May 16, 1961.

The survey showed 341 traffic deaths, 14 in boating accidents, 78 by drowning and 106 in miscellaneous accidents, a total of 539 for the period.

Depot Cites Employee For Efficiency

MRS. VIRGINIA DePaul, Mt. Pocono, received an award yesterday for sustained superior performance at the Army Signal Corps depot in Tobyhanna.

As secretary to the assistant to the commanding officer at the depot, she was cited for "performing her duties in an efficient and exemplary manner and furthering the efficiency of depot operations by her vigorous approach and ability to respond effectively under all conditions."

Mrs. DePaul was born in Scranton, and is a graduate of St. Mary's High School, that city.

She began her depot employment in 1963, and has held her present position since 1967. Previously, she worked as a secretary for the George E. Warren Corp., Scranton.

Mrs. DePaul is married to Louis DePaul, chief of the Supply Management Division at the depot.

Pvt. Meisse In Germany

ARMY Pvt. Richard A. Meisse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Meisse, Sciota, recently arrived in Germany and is now a member of the 14th Armored Cavalry Regiment.

Meisse, a driver in Headquarters Troop of the regiment's 3rd Reconnaissance Squadron in Bad Hersfeld, entered the Army in November, 1960 and completed basic training at Fort Dix, N.J.

The 17-year-old soldier attended Stroud Union High School, Stroudsburg.

Water Resources Program Detailed

THE WATER Resources Association of the Delaware River Basin announced yesterday that major portions of its second annual meeting, which will be held at Tamiment-In-The-Poconos this Friday and Saturday will be open to the public.

Charles R. Bensinger, Stroudsburg attorney and president of the association, said that all sessions on Friday from 2 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. will be open to the public free of charge. From 2 to 3:30 p.m., Col. T. H. Settle, Philadelphia District engineer, Army Corps of Engineers, will discuss the findings of the comprehensive physical plan for developing the water resources of the Delaware with emphasis on those proposed dams that can be started in the near future. Allen T. Edmunds, chief of the National Park Service's Region Five Division of Recreation Resource Planning, will discuss the proposed National Recreation Area that will be created in conjunction with the Tocks Island Reservoir.

Legal Technicalities — From 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Friday, John P. Robin, chairman of the Delaware River Basin Advisory Committee, and William Miller, legal consultant to the Advisory Committee, will discuss the legislative and legal progress and prospects of the interstate-federal compact for the Delaware River Basin.

Tickets for the other portions of the annual meeting may be purchased at Tamiment at the time of the meeting.

Of particular interest to residents of this area, the featured speaker at the association's annual dinner, to be held Friday starting at 7:30 p.m., will be Congressman Francis E. Walter.

Congressman Walter, the man responsible for securing Congressional approval for the Army Engineers' comprehensive plan, has long recognized the need for action to avert water shortages and avoid catastrophic floods such as this area experienced in August of 1955, a spokesman for the association said.

PTC Head To Be Quizzed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Douglass Pratt, president of the Philadelphia Transportation Co., will be questioned June 8 in connection with the city's suit to collect $1,815,000 damages.

The suit alleges that Pratt conspired to cheat the city on work intended to improve the Frankford Elevated train system.

Pratt denied there was any conspiracy. He said the PTC did collect $200,000 improperly from the city for repairs on the Market Street section of the elevated, which the PTC owns. The city owns the Frankford section, linking northeast Philadelphia with center city; the PTC runs it under lease.

Presbyterian Choirs' Concert Sunday

THE combined choir of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church will sing a concert of religious music on Sunday afternoon, June 4, at 4:00 p.m. Spearheading the program will be the Senior choir of 22 members, directed by Numa Snyder.

The Westminster Choir, also directed by Snyder, and made up of high school age students, will sing a group of selections. The Youth Choir, directed by Mrs. Robert Clark, and consisting of grade school and junior high students, also will sing a group of numbers. Mrs. Jean Ann Wolbert is the organist and accompanist for the Senior Choir and Miss Marlene Kleinhans plays piano for the Youth group.

The Westminster Choir will open the concert with "Rejoice, the Lord Is King," by Darwell. The remaining two selections of the first group will be sung by the Senior Choir: "Beautiful Saviour," with Mrs. Wolbert as soloist, and the final number being "Onward, Christian Soldiers," by Sullivan. These are all special arrangements of familiar hymns.

The second group will consist of two Negro spirituals, "There Is A Balm in Gilead" and "Ain't That Good News," both arranged by William Dawson. Mrs. Wolbert again solos in the former spiritual.

Mrs. Clark's Youth Choir will appear with "O Master, Let Me

Walk with You," by Smith; "Lord, I Want To Be A Christian," a spiritual arranged by Johnston; and "King All-Glorious," by Vail. Linda Laubach is soloist with this group.

The last group, before the offertory will be music by the Russian church. The men of the Senior Choir will sing "May Thy Blessed Spirit," by Tchaikovsky, and the entire choir will sing the liturgical "Hosanna, Hosanna" (Mercy on Us, O Lord), by Lvovsky.

Following the offertory the Westminster Choir will sing "All Glory Be to God on High," by Wentworth. Sue Harl is soloist. Following this it concludes its part of the concert with "Rejoice, the Lord Is King," by St. Saens.

Two anthems from the contemporary school will be sung by the Senior Choir, "Here Rejoice, O Broken Body," by Pinkham, and "Alleluia," by Randall Thompson.

Robert Wolbert, tenor soloist will open the last group, "Music from Extended Works."

The choir sings "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place," from Brahms' "Requiem," and "Then Round the Starry Throne," from Handel's oratorio, "Samson."

After the recessional hymn, they will give the musical benediction "The Lord Bless and Keep You," by Peter Lutkin.

The public is invited. A silver offering will be taken.

Staying Competitive

How far can a union go in setting industry-wide labor costs without risking violation of the federal antitrust laws? A Federal District Court jury in Knoxville has given the answer in the case of the United Mine Workers: not so far as to put small companies at a disadvantage with big companies.

That answer could cost the union $270,000. But more alarming to labor unions in general is the precedent that although a union has immunity from antitrust laws, it is vulnerable if its policies tend to help a certain segment of an industry dominate the field.

In this case a small Tennessee coal company charged that the Mine Workers' 40-cent per ton welfare fund royalty assessment was larger than the company's profit, thus forcing it out of business and helping big competitors get bigger.

Leaders of the big unions that bargain on an industry-wide basis — the Steelworkers, electrical workers, auto workers and any day now, the Teamsters—no doubt have their fingers crossed. The Tennessee decision has opened a crack in their shield against anti-trust prosecution.

Not all unions penalize small business by imposing economic terms tailored to the abilities of big competitors. Some enlightened labor leaders have recognized such inequities and adapted their demands to fit each situation.

Small firms less fortunate in their relationship with big unions may now have been provided a lever for staying competitive.

The Tennessee federal jury has struck an important blow against monopoly, and in the long run it should benefit the working man, if not the labor barons.

'It's My Turn To Sit There'

The Pennsylvania Story

No Exposés

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — There will be no "sensational exposés" breaking out during the remainder of the tenure of the Democratic Administration — at least not at the expense of Pennsylvania Democrats — if Governor Lawrence makes any thing to do with it.

This in itself may seem somewhat of an absurd observation, and the question might well be asked: well, who would want to have any such clouds break over his administrative and political horizon?

As old Al Smith used to say in the days when he was in his political cups, "let's look at the record."

The salient fact stands out that Mr. Lawrence's attitude on such activity unquestionably is in decided contrast to the "modus operandi" of his own preceding Democratic Leader Administration.

It is true Governor Lawrence made it clear in the early days of his Administration that he would not hesitate to knock out and bring to light any irregularities in governmental operations that might come to his attention.

However there is a difference between what might be termed "active muck-raking" and "passive muck-raking."

In the former case every possible advantage is taken to "exploit" a wrong-doing, regardless of degree of severity and regardless of whom it affects, politically or otherwise.

In the latter category fall those developments that are just that — developments, or mis-cues and mis-steps, that in the normal process are handled and prosecuted without exceptional and politically aggressive publicity other than developed by the case itself.

This is the pattern being followed and expected to be followed by the peace-loving and non-bombastic administration of Governor Lawrence.

It does not mean tolerance of wrong-doing in government; it means handling such cases without an attempt to capitalize politically on the development — an attempt invariably fraught with a high degree of gambling and an excellent chance of back-firing.

Mr. Lawrence, politically, is not that kind of gambler!

In itself is an interesting study in contrasts — in contrast with developments during the preceding Democratic Administration of Governor Leader.

It doesn't require a long-memory taxpayer to recall that during the Leader Administration there was an almost continuous uproar on Capitol Hill as the administration took advantage — publicly — of virtually every development along these lines, whether it affected the administration directly or not.

Perhaps the most blatant illustration of this strategy can be found in the highway under scandal expose where the Democratic Administration lowered the boom on fellow Democratic state employees at the time merely suspected of being guilty of fraud.

None will dispute the merit of such actions from a public service standpoint and the proper carrying out of a governmental function.

What was at dispute however — within the political fraternity, that is — was the use of such development as an aggressive publicity vehicle, which oftentimes backfires on the political organization concerned.

Standard operating procedure so far during the Lawrence Administration has been to let these matters take due legal course without attempt to capitalize politically.

Most are convinced the "aggressive publicity" act didn't work out too well for Democrats during the Leader Administration. Mr. Leader lost his U. S. senatorial bid and Mr. Lawrence squeaked into the gubernatorial chair.

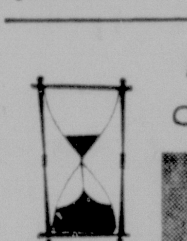

Whether this facet of the Leader Administration policy had anything to do with it, no one knows for sure of course. In any event, the cautious Lawrence Administration still doesn't intend to take any chances in this direction — if it can possibly be avoided.

Reds Get Secret Data

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott
Washington — President Kennedy is taking to his meeting with Premier Khrushchev a grim warning that the Soviet leader has full information on a U.S. intelligence operation almost as sensitive as the ill-fated U-2 "spy" plane mission.

He was warned by the Airforce that the Kremlin, through espionage in Britain and the U.S., has obtained vital secret details of its RB-47 reconnaissance flights near the Soviet borders.

The Kremlin's possession of this highly sensitive military intelligence and the deadly effectiveness of Soviet spy operations has "shocked" the President and his top military and intelligence aides.

That's the alarming report made to the Senate Armed Services Committee by Senators Styles Bridges, R.-N.H., and John Stennis, D.-Miss., who just completed an investigation into the circumstances surrounding Russia's release of two airforce fliers shot down last year near Russia.

Captains Freeman Olmstead and John McKone were captured when their RB-47 jet was downed by Soviet fighters last July over the Barents Sea in international waters about 30 miles from the Soviet coast-line. They were held prisoner until their surprise release on Jan. 25 — just five days after President Kennedy took office.

In reporting their findings to the committee, Senators Bridges and Stennis said they had been told that "the accuracy of Soviet information of the Airforce's RB-47 reconnaissance operations had severely shocked the President and his top military and intelligence aides."

They revealed that the Soviet officials who conducted the around-the-clock interrogation of Captains Olmstead and McKone knew the names of all the personnel in the flier's squadron, where their planes and other RB-47 units were based, the squadron's secret mission, and highly secret details of information gathered by the fliers in previous flights.

"I am fearful that if the full story of the Soviet's knowledge of our operations were made public that it would severely affect the morale of the airmen that are now flying these reconnaissance missions," Bridges told the committee.

He reported that it was the consensus of the government's top intelligence officials that Russia had obtained this sensitive military intelligence by espionage rings operating in Britain and the U.S.

Western intelligence chiefs are now on a worldwide spy alert to try to uncover the Communist espionage operations.

No Deal — The Senators reported that their month long investigation turned up no evidence that the U.S. made a deal with Russia for the release of the fliers.

Bridges told the committee that "all top officials from President Kennedy on down assured us that no secret promises or agreements were made or offered to the Soviets for the return of the airmen."

Instead, Senator Stennis credited Dr. Walter Rostow and Dr. Jerome W. Wiesner, scientists now serving as assistants to the President, with playing major roles in obtaining the release of the fliers.

The Mississippi Senator said that the two scientists interceded with top Kremlin officials when they were in Moscow last December for the so-called Pugwash conference that brought together U.S. and Soviet scientists to discuss disarmament. Rostow and Wiesner suggested the return of the airmen would be looked on by President-elect Kennedy as a tremendous "act of goodwill" on Khrushchev's part.

Sensors Bridges and Stennis praised the conduct of the two RB-47 fliers while they were prisoners of the Russians. They reported that despite endless grilling by Soviet officials the two Airforce captives refused to give the Communists any information of value about their missions or to sign phony confessions.

"All efforts of the Communist interrogators to get the fliers to sign statements that they were shot down over Soviet territory failed," Senator Bridges told the senators.

Taking No Chances — The "curtain reconnaissance" as the RB-47 flights are now known, was temporarily suspended last week by President Kennedy until after his week-end meeting with Khrushchev. It was felt by the President that continuation of the flights might jeopardize his meeting with the Soviet leader. Khrushchev used the U-2 incident to torpedo the last "Big Four" meeting in Paris.

President Kennedy is making sure that he has all his top Russian experts on hand for his meeting with Khrushchev. He has called Ambassador George Kennan in Belgrade to drop everything and come to Vienna.

The Japanese government and not the State Department vetoed former President Eisenhower's trip to Japan. Top officials there were afraid of new riots.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester ordered General Nathan Twining, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to cancel a speech he was about to make on "Current Military Problems" last week in Canada.

Inside You And Yours

Facial Pains

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.
"Do you want to kill me?" screamed Susie. "One touch, and those ice tongues will be pulling my face off again!"

The doctor had suggested examining her upper lip.

Susie's reaction was a dead giveaway. She had "tic douloureux" — fleeting attacks of shooting pains along the side of the face.

As you grow older, you may run into the douloureux. Senior citizens seem more vulnerable.

At first, months may separate each lightning-like spell. But gradually the two-minute attacks strike daily — or several times a day.

Lips and nose become triggers where the slightest touch explodes into ice-tongue agony. That's why Susie wore a wooden face and walked very, very softly.

Spoke Carefully
Like a cigar-smoking politician, she talked out of the other side of her mouth. When ever balmy breezes tickled her lips, lightning pains pulled at her face. No wonder she didn't wash that lip.

Dainty washcloths and masculine razors mean sudden torture. Around lips and nose, muscles quiver and draw up into spasm during the attack.

No one knows the cause. But like every other "neuralgia," tic douloureux can be relieved in many ways. A few whiffs of trichlorethylene may numb the troubled nerves.

Blood vessel relaxers allow new nourishment to reach the nerve to erase tic pain. Vitamin B injections may relieve the trouble.

Relief From Dilantin
Because lightning bursts of pain resemble epilepsy's sudden burst of brain cell activity, doctors tried an epilepsy medicine called "Dilantin." After years of shooting agony, many incurables have found relief in a handful of Dilantin capsules.

If medicines fail, alcohol injections can numb the afflicted nerve, or the brain surgeon can operate to disconnect nerve fibers flowing from the face to the brain.

Before any treatment, however, you'll need a thorough medical—and dental—checkup.

Susie's now cured. Those ice tongues melted the day her dentist filled that gaping cavity in her upper molar!

Praises Kenneth Raessler

Dear Mr. Editor:

There are women and men on the face of this earth who teach . . . but never gain the one thing that sets them apart! This is reserved for the special few who are honored by receiving the respect and love of their students!

Kenneth Raessler, who is leaving the East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School at the end of this term to attend Michigan State in order to work for his doctorate in music, has received this most valued of all honors.

"Kennedy" through his years in the East Stroudsburg schools, has brought a glow to each young man and woman who entered his classroom. He has taught the fundamentals of music and made it a joy.

He has taken individuals and brought to light latent or hidden talent, and has given these youngsters the opportunity to plan and execute productions of sheer delight.

He has guided the Choraliers to heights even they never dreamed possible, as every organization and service club who has heard them will heartily agree.

He has made the sound of music one of alive happiness — and it shall always remain so in their minds, due to his expert guidance.

Kenny's last production, "La Beep," was greeted with cheers — mingled with the tears of the students back stage, in hallways, in dressing rooms. These youngsters knew they'd had the privilege of knowing and being taught by a young man who understood them and loved them.

This is a great moment of realization in anyone's life. I know I speak for the parents, like myself, who know Kenny will carry that "specially inspired gold watch along with our grateful thanks and prayers for the happiness he brought into the lives of our children. 2.70 Inches Of Rain Fell During May ALMOST three inches of rain fell on the Stroudsburg during May, according to The Daily Record's rain gauge which recorded 2.70 inches.

Three consecutive Monday downpours accounted for more than a third of the month's total. On Monday, May 8, half an inch was recorded—the most on any one day during the month.

A total of .45 of an inch fell on Monday, May 15, and .18 of an inch on Monday, May 1. The three Mondays rang up 1.13 inches of the total monthly fall.

Boy, 17, Two Juveniles Arrested

THOMAS Transue, 18, of 348 Merten St., East Stroudsburg, and two juveniles were arrested yesterday morning on charges of burglary and automobile larceny.

East Stroudsburg and State Police said the pair took a car belonging to Mrs. Rachel Sarley, Broadhead Ave., East Stroudsburg, drove it to Marshalls Creek where they broke into the Huffman Service Station and took a quantity of change and oil and then took a car belonging to Carl Yetter, Marshalls Creek.

Transue was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Mrs. Ruth E. Miller, Stroud Township justice of the peace, and returned to Monroe County jail to await a hearing. The juveniles, 12 and 13 years old, were released in the custody of their parents.

East Stroudsburg police said the arrest of Transue also cleared up four burglaries in the borough within the past six weeks.

THE DISTANCE between Cresco and Harrisburg is roughly 100 miles. Local telephone operators probably wish it was greater.

Among other things, local information operators — the women you get when you dial 113 — are providing short courses in spelling for would-be vacationers trying to call Cresco-area resorts.

Monroe Native Dies At 52

EDWARD S. ANTHONY, 52, a native of Monroe County and chief burner for the National Portland Cement Co., was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Luke's Hospital, Fountain Hill, at 11:05 a.m. yesterday.

Anthony collapsed while at work, apparently of a heart attack. A post-mortem examination to determine the cause of death was ordered by Dr. Russell Rinker, Lehigh County deputy coroner.

Anthony was born near Saylorsburg, the son of Arlington and Viola Van Horn Anthony, and had lived at Nazareth RD 2, since 1941, moving there from Tatamy, N. J.

He had been employed by the cement firm since it was organized in 1938 and had traveled throughout the country as new plants were opened to start their kilns. He made a similar trip to Hawaii last Summer.

He was of the Reformed faith and a member of the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Union and the Tatamy Fire Co.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Jennie Bosich Anthony; two brothers, William, Phillipsburg, N. J., and John Anthony, Selcote; a sister, Mrs. Eva Trach, Harmony, N. J., and nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be at the F. W. Schmidt Funeral Home, Nazareth, at 2 p.m. Saturday. Rev. Floyd R. Shafer will officiate and burial will be in Lake View Cemetery, Saylorsburg.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. Friday.

Funeral Notices

ANTHONY, Edward S., of Nazareth, RD 2, May 31, aged 52 years. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend funeral services Saturday, June 3 at 2 p.m. from the F. W. Schmidt Funeral Home, Nazareth. Interment in the Lake View Cemetery, Saylorsburg. Viewing Friday, 7 to 9 p.m.

INFORMATION, PLEASE?—Mrs. Jean Roebber (left) and Mrs. Molly Morton handle calls for information at local office of Bell Telephone Co. monly long time to reach the information operators. And there's a reason.

Supply Information

The local operators not only handle calls for information originating here, but must also supply information for long distance customers and operators in other cities trying to reach local or area numbers.

In addition, they must handle what the company calls intercepts on all numbers with a Hamilton prefix.

That means that if a call is placed to a number which has been disconnected or changed, it is automatically switched to the information operators.

And the company rule is that long distance calls and intercepts take preference over local calls for information. They are NOT answered in the order the calls are received until long distance and intercepts are cleared.

So the next time you're tempted to curse the slowness of an information operator in answering, think again. She's only following orders.

Tips On Pets, Tender Toes, Beer Effect

Tips on pets, tender toes, a side effect of beer, and a look at the possibility of human seasons are subjects with a focus on health: Beware of Dog.

In just one year some 600,000 Americans were bitten by dogs—and man's canine friend can be a problem in the warmer months ahead when people take to the outdoors.

Dogs can make wonderful companions if they are handled right, says Dr. Herman E. Hillboe, New York health commissioner. He offers these tips:

Don't give a dog to a child under the age of 6. This can prevent a fifth of all dog bites.

Don't wake a dog suddenly. Teach children to care for them, not abuse or tease them.

Don't intervene in dog fights. Don't startle an eating dog. Don't take his food away from him. Don't run with a dog if it excites him, and don't ride a bicycle near an excited dog.

Have your pet vaccinated for rabies.

For Tender Toes.

Stretch socks may be harmful for children, a podiatrist says. In many youngsters between the ages of 2 and 12, ingrown toenails are caused by tight socks and in some the beginning of hammer toes have been seen. He advises against stretch socks before the age of 15.

Side Effect of Beer.

Beer may affect the clotting of blood in some persons. Sixteen men and women were given a pint of beer to drink and in two hours, 12 showed a definite delay in clotting time. Whisky had no significant effect, but cider and white wine did. Blood returned to normal four hours after drinking.

Human Seasons? Some bacterial diseases seem to have seasons, causing outbreaks of respiratory illness at certain times of the year. But a Boston University doctor wonders if the seasons are not human.

The germs are found in humans all year long, explains Dr. Henry Stimson Harvey. Yet the outbreaks of disease are seasonal, indicating there may be a seasonal change in people that makes them susceptible to influenza, streptococcus and pneumococcus diseases.

Red Youth Seen Against Communism

WASHINGTON — "Communism has no appeal to the youth behind the Iron Curtain", Rep. Francis E. Walter, Easton Democrat, said he learned on his recent visit to Berlin.

The Pennsylvania congressman visited Berlin, including the Communist Zone of East Germany, last week after he attended the Council meeting of the Intergovernmental Committee on European Migration in Geneva. Walter was chief U.S. delegate to the ICEM conference.

As guest of the American Military Command in Berlin, Walter visited the reception centers maintained for the vast number of Germans who are fleeing from the Communist section of Germany to the West.

Last year, Walter was told some 160,000 German refugees fleeing Communism had arrived in West Berlin alone. This year the rate is 2,700 a week reaching freedom.

The congressman, who also is chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, had a conference in West Berlin with Dr. Peter Nahm, the West German minister for refugees, who went to Berlin from his headquarters in Bonn to meet with Mr. Walter.

Still Able To Absorb Dr. Nahm told the congressman that West Germany still was able to absorb "an additional two million German refugees from behind the Iron Curtain."

"Sixty percent of those fleeing from Soviet domination," Dr. Nahm told Mr. Walter, "are under 24 years of age." "This," Walter said this week, "should indicate that communism has no appeal to youth. Although these people have been exposed for 17 years to Red indoctrination in schools and youth organizations, they have not been brain-washed. They have fled, and others are still fleeing from behind the Iron Curtain in spite of tremendous dangers and odds."

Liquor Licenses Suspended

HARRISBURG (AP)—The state Liquor Control Board announced Wednesday the following license suspensions, based on reasons which the board cited:

Effective June 13: Luzerne—Polish Army Veterans Post 147 Home Association, Inc., Wilkes-Barre, 15 days; refilled state store liquor bottles.

Nicholas and Lucille Perugino, Perugino's No. 1 Pub, Wilkes-Barre, 10 days; refilled state store liquor bottles.

Lackawanna—Patrick J. Noone, Noone's Bar, Scranton, 15 days; sales on Sunday; permitted gambling.

Stanley F. and Josephine Savitski, Prospect Restaurant, Scranton, 15 days; refilled state store liquor bottles.

State Milk Unit Wins Victory

HARRISBURG (AP)—The state Milk Control Commission Wednesday won a victory in its effort to establish Pennsylvania's first discount price for milk sold in gallon jugs.

The Dauphin County Court ruled that the commission acted legally in setting a price of 91 cents for milk bought in gallon glass jugs, whether purchased in stores or delivered to the doorstep.

The commission order and the court ruling applied only to the Philadelphia and suburban Philadelphia milk marketing areas. However, the gallon jug action is expected to set a precedent for milk prices across the state.

At the same time the court upheld these other features of the commission order that was issued two months ago:

Elimination of any price differential for adding Vitamin D to milk. Commission and Justice Department investigations showed the cost of adding the vitamin was only a fraction of a penny, while the mark-up had been a full cent.

Lowering of prices of milk sold in schools.

Changes in the prices of chocolate milk.

However, the court order written by President Judge William H. Neely reversed the commission on one feature of pricing milk to be sold in half-gallon containers.

The commission order would have required a 3-cent higher price for half-gallon paper containers delivered at home, compared to glass or paper half-gallon cartons sold in either stores or at home.

The commission order had been challenged by 18 appeals filed last month by milk dealers, retailers and the city of Philadelphia.

Food Stamp Plan Ready To Start

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — President Kennedy's pilot food stamp plan starts Thursday in job-hungry Fayette County. The plan initially will provide food subsidies for some 8,000 families.

Gov. Lawrence, Ruth Horting, state secretary of agriculture, and William B. Tollen, state commissioner of public assistance, will attend the ceremonies marking the initial stamp handouts.

It is estimated the stamp plan will pump between $55,000 and $70,000 a week into the economy of this southwestern Pennsylvania county, one of the nation's hardest hit areas of chronic unemployment.

Out of the county's 45,900 working force, 12,200 are unemployed. This is 26.5 per cent.

Families without income will receive stamps free. Those on public assistance and unemployment compensation must buy a quota of stamps regularly to get some free stamps. This will vary with the income and size of the family.

Retail stores participating in the food plan will be allowed to operate as they would in handling ordinary purchases. The stamps are not good for restaurant food or taprooms.

They will be in books in denominations of 25 cents and $1. Only full books will be issued and they will have values of $2, $3, and $10.

Tornout stamps cannot be spent. They must be in the book to be honored by the merchant. Each book will be serially numbered.

Fayette County is one of eight pilot counties in the nation where the program is being tested to improve the diets of the nation's needy.

Families began registering May 17. There are some 22,000 individuals on public assistance rolls in the county.

Undertakers Seek Serious View

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP) — Britain's undertakers appealed yesterday for a more serious view of their profession. L.H. Stringer, president of the National Association of Funeral Directors, told the association's annual conference: "What we do is not funny and should not be the subject of cheap sarcasm and sly humor."

Crash Victim Dies

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Emil Bissell, 30, of Roscoe, Washington County, hurt in an auto crash Tuesday, died Wednesday in Presbyterian Hospital.

Bissell was a passenger in an auto that struck a utility pole on Route 88 near California. The driver of the car was not hurt.

Tavern Group Plans To Aid Alcoholism

HARRISBURG — Irvin Schlegel, president of the Pennsylvania Tavern Association, announced yesterday that his organization had fully endorsed a proposal to help establish and support a fund raising group for research and treatment of alcoholism.

The agency would be known as the Pennsylvania Foundation for Research and Treatment of the Disease of Alcoholism, to be incorporated and registered in Pennsylvania. It would be separately administered by a group of citizens who have demonstrated a personal interest in the problems of alcoholism.

"Our action, which is unanimously endorsed by our forty county affiliates, was not lightly taken," said Schlegel. "We are aware that in some quarters this announcement will be taken as an admission of guilt in our industry for alcoholism."

"Nevertheless, we believe that alcoholism is a disease, as indicated in the reports of many prominent doctors. We think that alcoholic beverages are only a crutch for the alcoholic and if they were not available he would turn to other means of satisfying the craving generated by the disease."

"Do Not Want Business"

"Our taverns do not want the business of alcoholics, just as we do not want the business of minors and intertempers. We want to do all that we can to reduce the number of alcoholics, to the degree we can, so that their existence will not be equated detrimentally to the legitimate, civilly and socially conscious business in which we are engaged."

Schlegel also said that the foundation, in the beginning, would accept grants from Pennsylvania Tavern Association affiliates and, in turn, would make grants to clinics, hospitals, colleges and institutions providing treatment for alcoholics.

"We hope," he continued, "that the public will understand and accept our motives in this instance and cooperate with us in seeking a resolution of the problem of alcoholism. We particularly hope that the women in our industry will step forward to assist in doing a job which we feel must, sooner or later, be done."

Irem Temple To Ballot On Candidates

MEMBERS of Irem Temple, Wilkes-Barre, will hold a business meeting Friday at 8:30 p. m. in the Temple.

The highlight of the meeting will be the balloting on candidates for the class to be inducted at outdoor ceremonies June 3, at the Irem Temple Country Club, Dallas.

A spokesman for the organization said that approximately 600 members of the Temple would attend the Imperial Council session, June 18 through 23, in Miami, Fla.

Other events planned for the coming season are a Western Roundup at the country club July 22 for members and their families. A Teeners' Dance, August 5, in the country club.

The annual family picnic will be held at the country club August 9, and the dance for Irem Temple members and their guests will be held August 18. Music for this dance will be played by Les Elgart and his band.

Commissioners Meet Called Off

MONROE County Commissioners will not meet today because business previously scheduled will take them out of the office.

The next meeting for the board will be 10 a. m. June 5, in the Monroe County Courthouse.

Foreign Films' Program At ESSC

THE THIRD and final program of the spring series presented by the World Films Committee will be shown on Saturday, June 3 at 8:00 p. m. in East Stroudsburg State College Auditorium.

The full-length feature will be a Russian film, "The Stone Flower," based on several legends. The story deals with a sculptor in search of perfection.

The second shorter feature will be "Appalachian Spring, the only full-length Martha Graham ballet on film. The dance with its strong folk flavor portrays a young pioneer couple's wedding day and house building.

The music, which Aaron Copland wrote for this ballet, won him the Pulitzer prize in music in 1945 and has become a familiar and much loved composition on its own merit independent of the dance.

Notices and subscription blanks for a fall series of three or four Saturday nights of fine films with artistic merit and international significance will be sent out shortly after August 1. Anyone wishing to be notified should leave his name with an usher on Saturday evening or send his name to the chairman, David Mazer, RD 3, E. Stroudsburg. Saturday's showing is open to all at a nominal admission charge, except for college students, for whom there is no admission charge.

Summer Reading Project

THE JUNIOR Great Books Group, a young people's summer reading project, is taking registrations and book orders for the six weekly discussion meetings.

Paperback books must be ordered this week to assure their arrival by the last week in June, the group's starting date. Invitations have been distributed to the academic sections in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg ninth grades, but the group is open to others.

The readings will include: selections from Greek Mythology; Benjamin Franklin's "Autobiography"; Sophocles' "Antigone"; several readings from the "Bible"; Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night"; and Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn."

A sheet of questions and suggestions for independent study will be distributed in advance for each book.

Discussion Leaders

The leaders will not act as teachers but as discussion leaders, helping to keep the discussion on the topic and helping the group to develop and refine their skills of reasoning out problems, of adding to, qualifying and summarizing ideas from others in the group.

The co-leaders will be Mrs. Melva Reid and Mrs. David Mazer, both members of the American Association of University Women, sponsors of the project.

There will be no charge beyond the cost of the books. For further information telephone Mrs. Mazer.

Rudderless Market Hit By Patchwork

By ED MORSE

AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Scattered strength by some high quality stocks and the largest trading volume in two weeks left a rudderless stock market nowhere in particular Wednesday.

The final picture was a patchwork of small gains and losses featured here and there by a substantial move. The market lacked group leadership.

Analysts said political uncertainties arising from the impending Kennedy-Khrushchev conference, compounded by the reported assassination of Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo and the disorder in Venezuela may have caused some traders to stop-look-and-listen.

Volume rose to 4.32 million shares from Friday's 3.78 million and was the largest since May 18 when 4.61 million shares were traded.

The Dow Jones industrial average held a negligible gain of .44 at 696.72.

Distressed Area Out For Tourists

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — With Greater Johnstown classified as a chronically distressed area, civic leaders fixed their sights on an inclined plane as a potential business booster. They reasoned:

"Let's make it a tourist attraction. Dress it up, hawk its wares, show it off."

Scores of persons already have visited the plane. Many more are expected in the future.

The inclined plane is having a birthday party Saturday.

Some 100 volunteer workers will dress up the plane, a little dingy now after 70 years of existence, to enhance its value as a tourist attraction. An observation platform also will be built at its top.

Among the workers will be laborers, painters, iron and steel men. Businessmen have contributed materials for the project.

With a 71 per cent grade and a 986½-foot runway, the plane is almost elevator steep. It provides riders a grand view of the surrounding area.

Cambria Steel Co., predecessor of Bethlehem Steel Co., built the plane at a cost of $133,296 to provide easy transportation up Yoder Hill for residents of the firm's new realty development — Westmont.

Opened June 1, 1891, the plane was vital to the life of Westmont for more than a quarter of a century. The few roadways that climbed the grade were steep, rugged and virtually impassable in winter.

Business Brisk

In those days the fare was a penny. Business was brisk. Cars shuttled up and down the cliffside around the clock.

Then in the late 1920s, with motor vehicles and roads improved, patrons began drifting away. The depression brought a further loss in patronage with many customers walking to save the nickel fare.

In 1933 Bethlehem Steel sold the plane to Westmont Borough for $1. The borough decided to keep the plane in operation, a decision that assumed great importance a year later during the March flood. An estimated 4,000 lowland residents were carried to safety.

During its 70 years in business, the plane has hauled some 40 million passengers. Only one fatality has been recorded.

The carrier has experienced many financial ups and downs, but now it is hoped that tourists will help give the plane permanent solvency.

Late Hour Sunday Liquor Bill One Of 17 Ready For Action

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG — The bill to allow retail liquor licenses to remain open until 2 a. m. Sunday mornings is one of 17 bills reported to the floor by the Senate Law and Order Committee Wednesday. A number of the others deal with the liquor industry.

The mass committee action is the result of the decision to strive for sine die adjournment by June 15.

Nine of the bills originate in the Senate and eight in the House.

The Senate meets next Wednesday and Thursday to act on pending legislation and clearing its calendar. The House will not return to Harrisburg until June 5.

The 2 a. m. Sunday bill makes its appearance perennial. It has had no success.

Supporters believe they have a better chance this year. They are encouraged by the fact the bill to allow hotels in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh to sell on Sundays has passed and the other day the House passed the bill allowing the sale of beer in the Phillies ball park in Philadelphia.

Clubs may sell until 3 a. m. Sunday, reopen at 7 a. m. and continue selling until 3 a. m. Monday. The clubs have let it be known they are not opposed to the licenses selling until 2 a. m. Sunday.

Other bills cleared by the Senate Law and Order Committee would direct the state stores; prohibit the refilling of all containers including wine bottles, the same as the restriction already applies to whiskey bottles; and liberalize regulations governing Sunday drama and concerts.

One of the bills approved would require the dealer to make a fourth copy of the sales of firearms. Three are required now. The fourth would go to the local police agency.

A bill amending the penal code to restrict the sale and purchase of firearms was killed in the committee. Voluminous protests from sportsmen is the reason.

The proposal to allow the sale of beer in grocery stores was killed. It is backed by the breweries but opposed by the retail liquor industry.

Service Center Will Be Located In Philadelphia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The income tax people are going to set up a new service center in Philadelphia. It will cover Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

A big factor in picking Philadelphia, Caplin said, is that its orbit has been labeled a substantial labor surplus area.

Bugs, Chores And Rules Withstanding, Teeners Look Forward To Summer Camp

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research Company

NEARLY ONE out of every five teen-agers plans to go away to camp this summer, and—except for the dishwashing, bugs, strict rules and other minor distractions—the overwhelming majority are looking forward to the experience anxiously.

This was what we discovered in questioning 1,107 high school boys and girls in a cross-section survey on the eve of the camping season.

"I can't wait to go," said 15-year-old Helene Davis of New York. "I love camp more than anything." Larry Sank, 14, of Tenafly, N.J., agrees. "I'm free and I can get away from it all," he said.

The allure of camp apparently is slightly stronger for girls than boys, but after a couple of summers of it the girls show less interest. Also, the boys generally stay at camp for longer periods despite the girls' claim they aren't bothered by homesickness any more than the boys are.

Of the students questioned, 33 per cent of the boys and 30 per cent of the girls never had been to camp, and only 14 per cent of the boys and 23 per cent of the girls expect to go this summer.

Boys are Repeaters

Fifteen per cent of the boys who had attended camp had gone back a second and third time, and 11 per cent a fourth time.

After that, interest dropped sharply. Perhaps 18-year-old Herb Banks of Chicago explained it. "I'm too old," he said.

The girls were less frequent repeaters. While 22 per cent had attended camp once and 17 per cent twice, only 9 per cent went back a third time and 7 per cent a fourth time.

Many said they preferred the social life of the city, and one—17-year-old Linda Collins of Knoxville, Tenn.—said she wasn't going to camp this summer because she planned to get married.

Most of the girls who plan to go (9 per cent) intend to stay for just one week, and only 4 per cent plan to stay as long as eight weeks.

On the other hand, half the boys plan to stay eight weeks and only 2 per cent anticipate a one-week trip. Both boys and girls (8 per cent of the boys and 9 per cent of the girls) expect to help their parents pay the cost.

All the boys and all except a scant 1 per cent of the girls can hardly wait to start packing their duffel bags.

Like philosophic Pam Gray, 17, of Dallas, many find camp "a welcome change from the pressures and hectic pace of school." Or, like Irma Eley, 17, of Liberal, Kan., they "like to see old friends and meet new ones."

What are the most attractive of the routine camp activities?

Irrked By Rules

Most of the campers (7 per cent) who agreed on a single complaint said their biggest objection was the restrictions placed on them. Two other groups (5 per cent each) disliked the chores and the "early" curfew; and 6 per cent said the food left something to be desired.

There were other interesting gripes.

Sylvia Boyer, a 16-year-old Dallas camper, for example, feels early in the morning is hardly the time for a swim. "We went to the lake at 7 o'clock every morning," she complained.

Susan Pulte, 15, of Gainesville, Tex., said she missed "dates and friends" at her all-girl camp.

Who's Homesick?

Mary L. Gentry, 15, of Dallas, said she can't stand the bugs, and Wayne Baumgarten, 13, of Bethel Park, Pa., hates the flies. "Everywhere you go there's flies," he said.

Only 2 per cent of both boys and girls said homesickness was the thing they liked least about camp, though 18 per cent (13 per cent of the boys and 24 per cent of the girls) admitted they had been homesick at one time or another.

However, only 1 per cent of the boys and 7 per cent of the girls expect to be homesick this summer; and most of the campers who had an opinion (10 per cent) felt their parents would miss them as much as they would miss their parents.

Sharyn Perkit, 16, of Brookline, summed up the general feeling. "My parents want a vacation, and I like being away from home," she said.

Elliot Meisel of Tenafly had another viewpoint: "Nobody will miss anybody," he said.

Corn Flavor Lost Quickly

By George Abraham
SWEET CORN — Home-grown corn has more sweetness and quality than store corn, mainly because flavor is lost so quickly. Corn is a vegetable which does well on many types of soil, but usually the richer the ground, the sweeter and more tender will be the ears.

Hybrid sweet corn is rapidly replacing open-pollinated varieties in home gardens, but that doesn't mean any hybrid is superior because it happens to be a hybrid. Never plant seed from hybrid corn which you saved over from the previous year.

Good seed is cheap in the cost of production of any crop, so start out with fresh seed.

Stagger your planting dates so your corn won't ripen all at once. Early, midseason and late varieties can be planted at the same time, and an additional planting of a midseason variety about a month later will yield fine corn in early fall.

Bonus
Do you want to grow sweet corn, without smutty or wormy ears? Then you'd better send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and as for a copy of my brand new bulletin, How To Grow Sweet Corn, Without Wormy Ears. Our guide tells you how to plant, grow, pick, cook and freeze corn so you can enjoy it summer or winter. It also answers such questions as why do you have unfilled ears, yellow leaves, etc. You should have a copy of this guide, if you love garden-fresh corn.

Garden Mums
What makes garden mums change their colors? Actually, the plants themselves do not change color. What happens is that mums can self-sow, and the seeds will germinate and produce blossoms different from the parent.

Bronze is one color which is dominant and it probably comes up the most. Mums do not mix and change colors, as many believe. However, they will often "sport" or mutate to a different color. When they do this, study the habits closely and see if you have a better plant than the parent.

Mums started from cuttings produce exactly the same colors as the parent. Seed will give you a different color.

Cocoa-Bean Shells

How do these rate as a garden mulch? Cocoa shells are attractive, effective and contain a considerable amount of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

They contain low moisture (5.4%) but will absorb 2½ times their weight of water. When first applied they have the chocolate odor of cocoa beans. Apply the shells about three inches deep in the garden, around trees and shrubs.

Ground cocoa bean shells are ideal for adding to lawns as a form of humus. Shells are ideal in the compost pile, also. Some gardeners claim that the shells attract mice and rats, but I doubt this.

A mold will grow on the shells in warm weather, but this is not harmful to plants. As with other mulches, weeds can eventually grow through, but these can be removed easily.

Dilworth Sees Migration Blame For Delinquency

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mayor Richardson Dilworth Wednesday placed much of the blame for the city's juvenile delinquency problem on "the tremendous migration" into Philadelphia of unskilled families from the South.

Dilworth, speaking at a conference on delinquency, said the influx of untrained workers increases the difficulties of their finding jobs. This results, he said, in more obstacles in raising children properly.

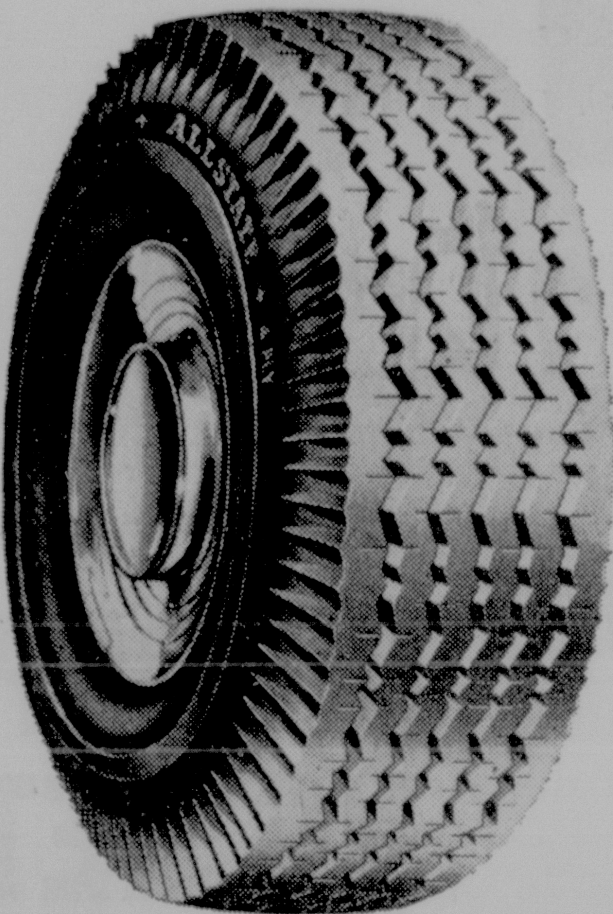

Dr. C. Wilson Anderson, commissioner of the state Office of Children and Youth, Harrisburg, predicted a breakthrough soon in new ideas "to conquer this terrible hazard of delinquency."

One of the features of the state program, he said, would be subsidies to municipalities.

Cut Stainless Steel Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp. reduced stainless steel strip prices by from 2½ to 5 per cent Wednesday, perhaps foreshadowing an industry-wide price cut on this item.

Extra charges on stainless steel sheets were trimmed or eliminated. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. followed suit.

Dr. Mohn Named By Methodists

DR. GAITHER P. Warfield, general secretary of the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief, yesterday announced the appointment of Dr. E. Harold Mohn of Palo Alto, Calif., as a part-time consulting representative on the West Coast. Dr. Mohn's duties for MCOR will begin August 1. He is currently vacationing at his home at Delaware Water Gap.

The new staff representative is widely known throughout the Methodist Church for his 12 years as general secretary of the denomination's Commission on Promotion and Cultivation. He retired from this position in Chicago last January. Earlier Dr. Mohn had served pastors in Ohio.

"Dr. Mohn will assist in keeping alive the cause of MCOR among the thousands of members who live in the rapidly-growing Western Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church," Dr. Warfield said in making this announcement in New York City.

Ancient Treasure

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — An ancient treasure consisting of gold bracelets, diamond rings and other precious stones and old silverware has been found during archaeological research in the small town of Skrwilno in north Poland, the Polish news agency PAP reported yesterday. The treasure dates from the early 17th century and its value, without taking into consideration its artistic and historical worth, has been estimated at about two million zlotys—$83.

JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLET

(and that's the car more people are buying!) Take those June skies and breezes. Add a spankin' new Jet-smooth Chevy. Presto, you've got all the makings of a roamin' holiday. That low-loading deep-well trunk swallows up most everything you'd want to pack along. The carefully crafted Body by Fisher has you livin' in luxury (and in comfort-high seats where the sight-seein' comes easy). That Jet-smooth Chevy ride, with a sinewy Full Coil spring at each wheel, gentles you past all the wrinkles and ruts in the roads (there's even a team of over 700 behind-the-scenes "shock absorbers" to hush up road surface mumblings and grumblings). All in all, Chevy's light-steerin', easy-goin' ways just don't leave much for you to do but feel good. And that's exactly the way your Chevrolet dealer wants you to feel — as you can plainly see in those beautiful June buys he's got bustin' out all over.

Impala Convertible—just as saucy as you please and wide open for fun.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

One of the pleasures of living in Monroe County is the spontaneous drive on Spring evenings — not going anywhere in particular except it must be on back roads and somewhere in the course of the drive, you must take a fork you've never taken before.

So far I've never run out of new roads, even after all these years. You may start out on a familiar track—say the Twin Pines road at Snyder'sville—but by turning left when you've always turned right or vice versa you are soon in virgin country.

You meander along shaded brooks, and through a woodland unexpectedly filled with Black Angus cattle. You pass fishing cabins, old-fashioned farmhouses, and all of a sudden, a modern new home with a palatial swimming pool.

You climb a hill and look out over a hidden valley of fields and meadows or round a bend and there's a lake you never knew existed. There are summer homes with the chains across their driveways and then, mysteriously, an old fashioned trolley car sitting deserted on a hill, or maybe a boarding house tucked away.

Or have to drive around the front to realize that you've approached the Neola Church from an entirely new direction. And, if you're with me, you've got to read the names on the mailboxes.

Like old and dear friends many of them seem, although I've never met their owners and had no idea that this was where they lived; but I've had their birthday parties and their stork showers, when they entertained their Sunday School class and when they were hostesses at the fire company auxiliary.

Someday — I keep promising myself — I'm going to stop; but that thought usually comes just about the time I realize that I am completely turned around; haven't the vaguest idea where

Lakes Honored At Party On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre T. Lake of 818 Thomas St., Stroudsburg, were the guests of honor at a 25th wedding anniversary celebration given by Mrs. Lake's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Blair N. Strunk, at their home at White Heron Lake, Marshall's Creek.

Mrs. Lake is the former Rhea Van Blarigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Van Blarigan of Scranton. They were married in Scranton on May 24, 1936.

They have three children: Joan who will be a senior at East Stroudsburg State College; John, who will be in the eighth grade at Stroud Union High School; and Ruth who will be in the seventh grade at Stroud Union.

An anniversary cake, presented by their children, and other cards and gifts were presented to them.

The party also marked the birthday of Mrs. Blair N. Strunk, who was given a birthday cake by her niece, Joan Lake, and other cards and gifts. Attending were: Mr. and Mrs. David Jayne Sr., Succasunna, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. David Jayne Jr. and children, Karen, Scott and Dwight, Kenvil, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Van Blarigan and children, Paul, James and Peter, Metuchen, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Adam Van Blarigan, Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mrozek and children, Gail and David, Scranton, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Strunk, Stroudsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Blair N. Strunk, White Heron Lake; John Lee, Stroudsburg and Mr. and Mrs. Pierre T. Lake and children.

the road will come out; my supper hour is over and the page is waiting.

This time we came out on the back road to Brodhead'sville which is a heck of a way from home when you're in a hurry — but I still come back refreshed — relieved that progress hasn't gobbled up all the hidden valleys or motels rooted out all the familiar families.

Mrs. William Warnken (Maurice Holley)

William Warnken Married In West Palm Beach Church

Saylorsburg—William M. Warnken has brought his bride to their home in Saylorsburg following their wedding in West Palm Beach, Fla., on May 20, and a wedding trip.

His bride is the former Miss Kathleen R. Kavanaugh, daughter of Mr. Robert B. Kavanaugh, of 436 Hemlock Road, West Palm Beach and the late Mr. Kavanaugh.

Mr. Warnken is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Warnken, of Saylorsburg. They were married in a nuptial mass in the Holy Name Catholic Church by Rev. Timothy Carr. The altar was decorated with gladioli, mums, pompons and palms. Organist was Mrs. Maurice Jones.

The bride who was given in marriage by her uncle, R. A. Kavanaugh, of Miami, wore a street-length Chantilly lace sheath over bridal satin with a matching coat of Chantilly lace, fashioned with a cowl collar and puffed sleeves. A pillbox hat of matching lace with seed pearls held her shoulder-length veil of illusion and she carried a prayer book centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Nell J. Devine, Miami, as matron of honor, wore a dress of blue embroidered lace over satin with a matching three-quarter length jacket. A white caprice rose on a leaf band formed her headress and she carried an orchid corsage.

John Martin was best man. Ushers were Dan Kavanaugh, Miami Springs, a cousin of the bride, and John Jordan.

The bride is a graduate of St. Ann's High School, Palm Beach Junior College where she was a member of The Del sorority, and of Spring Hill College, Mobile, Ala., where she received a BS degree in commerce. She was a member of the Spinster Cotillion Club of the Palm Beaches. She was employed as secretary-receptionist for the executive office of the Palm Beach Post-Times.

Mr. Warnken attended St. Nicholas of Tolentine, New York

The Wyckoff Shopper

the friendly store

A.B. Wyckoff

Meeting Betty Vandermark, Miss Jantzen of 1961, is a refreshing experience. She is beautiful . . . but then, most successful models have beauty. She has charm . . . but that too, is a requisite for success. The certain something that puts Betty ahead of the majority, is her naturalness. She is as easy to talk with, as she is on the eyes . . . and MAN! (as any man will tell you) THAT'S EASY!

She arrived at the radio station last Friday morning, wearing a black Suzy Perette coat, and a black scarf, tied around windblown locks. "I haven't had a chance to comb my hair," she apologized, "so I'm glad this isn't television. As a matter of fact, I wondered if I'd ever get here at all. I was stuck in traffic behind an Acme truck."

My comment was a very sincere, "I should look like you, even with my hair combed!" This I repeat . . . for she's lovely, even without makeup.

"I wore very little eye shadow and such," she told me, "because Mr. MacLaine (Jantzen sales representative in this area) said he felt Stroudsburg people liked natural looking girls. After all, Jantzen girls are the all American girls. Of course, for some shows—evening shows and bridal shows, for instance—I wear different types of makeup, and different hair styles."

When she told me she had decided to become a model while in high school, had been an art major at Skidmore College and been a professional model three years, I was surprised. "You look like a teen ager," I exclaimed.

"Oh, no—I'm not really. It's just this hairdo today. I always look this way when my hair is curled around my face. In a way this is good, and I certainly won't fight it. But sometimes I wish I looked a bit more mature so I could model things that are a bit older. Being more mature can be just as beautiful as being very young. But when I go into the agency or a store, they always say, 'You'll be just perfect for the Missy shop,' or some such thing."

It is this expression of sweet young innocence that makes Betty a favorite model for bridal shows. "There's one scheduled in Philadelphia for June 9th, and I will wear ten of the most beautiful gowns you've ever imagined . . . but I must lose five pounds."

I was incredulous. After all, she is five foot 8½ inches tall, and fits perfectly into a size 12.

"I may look slender to you," she explained, "but I have to count calories all the time, and that's bad, for I love to eat."

As a matter of fact, she had drunk Metrecol for breakfast, and would probably have it for dinner, because at lunchtime I encouraged her to eat rare roast beef, salad, cottage cheese, and—of all things—STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE. "I hope my suits will fit this afternoon," she fretted, but her eyes sparkled impishly, and she had a Roman holiday with our Tea Room food.

"This is a wonderful store," she said, "Everyone's so friendly in Stroudsburg and makes you feel so at home. I'm really excited about coming back for the Tamiment Fashion Show on June 21st." I explained about the gowns from Israel and introduced her to co-chairmen Edith Jacobson and Erika Leibert.

"Everyone was friendly during my Tea Room show here today," she told me. "One man made me laugh. He said, 'How about my ordering YOU between two slices of bread?'"

I could agree that the man was very discerning. Miss Jantzen of 1961 is a beautiful girl and a very sincere, friendly one. As the old cliché goes, "She's good enough to eat"—or for "feasting the eyes" upon!

Seek U. S. Aid
SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea's military rulers called for legal advice yesterday and more American aid. Lt. Gen.

Chang Do-Young, 38, the new premier, said in an interview that "we expect more American economic aid" to develop basic coal power and fertilizer industries.

FREE TRAIN RIDE—Third grade students of the Barrett Twp. School recently toured the Army Signal Corps depot in Tobyhanna. One of their big thrills was a free ride on Pullman trains stored at the installation. For many, it was their first time on a train.

The Daily Investor

Custodian Of Securities

Q. You have made a big point out of the fact that, once a person makes a gift of stock to a child (under the "gift to minors laws") the gift is "irrevocable"—that the stock then belongs to the child. I'm a bit foggy on this subject.

A. Suppose you buy some stock for one of your children—registering it in ("your name as custodian for (our child's name), a minor, under the gift to minors law."

Do you mean to tell me that you could never sell that stock? A. Of course, the stock could be sold. But the money from the sale would not be my money. I would remain the custodian for the money—just as I would be the custodian for the stock—until the child becomes 21.

The custodian, under the gift to minors law, is just that—a custodian. He has custody of the securities or the money. They belong to the child and must be used for the benefit of the child.

The gift to minors law permits the custodian to buy and sell securities. It is his duty to manage, invest and reinvest the custodian account. But he must follow the "prudent man rule." In other words, he's not allowed to get careless.

Naturally, all this must be done for the benefit of the child—not the benefit of the custodian.

If I buy stock for Big Guy, Little Terror or one of our recent Double Dividend (two-month-old twins, you know.) I will keep a close eye on the stock. If that stock turns sour and seems to have a bleak future, I have the right to sell it and reinvest the money.

Q. I bought 25 shares of a certain stock, at $26 a share, some time ago. I told the "customers' man" who handles my account to sell these 25 shares, at $40 a share, when the price went up. When the stock didn't go that high for a while, I ordered my customers' man to sell the 25 shares. I got $31.25 a share. I didn't tell him to cancel my initial sell order. I thought this was done automatically.

Later, the stock did rise to $40 a share. The customers' man sold 25 shares for me—shares I no longer owned. He now tells me that I must buy 25 shares at the current market price (well over $40 a share) and take a loss on the difference.

A. Brace yourself. Technically, if you put in an order to sell your stock at a fixed price and that order was good till canceled, it was your obligation to cancel it.

However, if this guy handled all your business and was on the ball, he should have pointed this out to you when you sold those 25 shares at $31.25.

That order to sell could have canceled your sell—at $40 order, if you made the point or if that customers' man was paying any attention to your account. It's doubtful that the brokerage firm will let you off the hook on this. But the cash beating you take should entitle you to some desk-pounding and harsh words to the customers' man and his boss.

South African Strike Seen Collapsed

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's white leadership claimed yesterday a general work strike by the nation's nonwhites was "total collapse." But the claims appeared exaggerated.

Despite repeated victory claims by the government-controlled radio, police patrols continued to march through Negro settlements. Officials obviously girded for Wednesday, planned as the climax of the three-day strike.

The new South African Republic will be proclaimed and its first president inaugurated in Pretoria. Police enforced stringent security measures to ensure the ceremony goes off without incident.

Thousands of Negroes went to their jobs Tuesday but many stayed home in Johannesburg and Port Elizabeth. Some Indian and Chinese merchants padlocked their shops in silent support of the nonwhite majority's campaign for political rights.

Despite a partial news blackout, it was apparent there was trouble in Port Elizabeth. Police driving six armored cars rushed into Negro townships to stamp out demonstrations by thousands of Negroes who were reported burning South African flags. Newsmen were barred from the area.

FBI Probing Utah Explosions

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Service was restored at one of three sabotaged telephone relay stations yesterday as the FBI continued its probe into the cause of the explosions which wrecked them.

The FBI still said its only comment was: "We're investigating to determine whether any federal laws were violated." Telephone crews used portable equipment to restore service at a cable relay station at Knolls, Utah, 40 miles east of Wendover on the Utah-Nevada border.

Lancaster Cattle

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Cattle owners here are being urged to report any suspicious activity to the Lancaster County Sheriff's Office. The county is conducting a search for stolen cattle.

Rev. Lindenmuth spoke following the parade which featured the brownie scouts, girl scouts, boy scouts, the SWJS band, and a color guard including Robert Staph, Allen Cross, A. H. Walker, and William Rubrecht. A National Guard firing squad included Herbert Peet, Louis Shaffer, Henry Stevens and Ronald Altier.

Another highlight of the service was the original oration, "Preserving Our American Heritage," given by Jean Mary Burdick, State forensic winner.

Food Service Firms To Merge

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Slater Food Service Management and Automatic Retailers of America have agreed to merge, it was announced Wednesday. Terms were not disclosed.

Slater will operate as an autonomous division of Automatic Retailers. The announcement said all Slater employees will be kept. Slater, founded in 1926 with headquarters here, caters to more than 200 industrial firms, 140 school and colleges. Through an affiliate it also serves 36 hospitals.

"The proposed budget of the Ross Township School District for the 1961-1962 school year is available for inspection at the home of the Secretary, Mrs. Selma Greenmeyer, Sayreburg, Pa., and additions, if any, are scheduled for June 20, 1961.

The Ross Township School District intends to adopt a rate of tuition levying $5.00 Per Capita Tax under Act 481 of the Pennsylvania Legislature, and a $5.00 Per Capita Tax under School Code, section 279, a total tax of $10.00 per capita, for the school year 1961-1962. Final adoption is scheduled for June 20, 1961.

Pursuant to Act 193, Class (a) of the Act of June 20, 1961, the following notice is duly given: Every resident or inhabitant in any school district, upon attaining 21 years of age or over, becoming a resident or inhabitant in any school district, shall, within 12 months, after the happening thereof, notify the proper assessor of his residence, and, if becoming a resident or inhabitant, any person failing within said period to notify the assessor of the school district within which he resides, shall be liable, in addition to the tax levied by such school district, to a civil penalty equal to such tax, penal sum equal to such tax.

Sealed bids will be received by the Borough of Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg and the Township of Stroud, for one, one and one-half, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven,
